Advice for football fans

AS England prepare for their first game of this summer's Euros against Croatia on Sunday, TfL is advising fans with tickets to Wembley to plan ahead and check before they travel.

Fans may need to queue to enter stations at Wembley for longer than usual after the match. This is to maintain social distancing, in line with government guidelines.

With the prospect of extra time and penalties during the knockout stages of the tournament, customers are reminded that there are no overnight services. Anyone requiring accessible journeys is advised to take the Jubilee or Metropolitan lines to Wembley Park.

Sections of London's transport network will be busier than they have been recently, as the capital hosts one of the UK's first major sporting events since the start of the coronavirus pandemic.

Fans should consider walking or cycling to the stadium if possible, with cycle parking available on street level in the north-east corner of the stadium.

Also on Sunday, Tower Bridge will be closed from 6am for a major public art project to celebrate the European Championship. There will be five locations across the city, including the bridge, that will be pasted in almost 3,000 black and white portrait photos.

TRAVEL SAFELY

Fans are also reminded that face coverings must be worn over their nose and mouth, unless exempt, and to maintain social distancing where possible on TfL services and at stations.

Hospital-grade cleaning substances are being used across the network, and independent testing has been carried out monthly, with no traces of coronavirus being found. More than 1,000 hand sanitising points are available throughout the network, and 200 UV light devices are continually sanitising escalator handrails.

Pay as you go on contactless and Oyster enables fans to travel flexibly at quieter times by simply touching in and out, reducing the need to queue or buy tickets at a station. Pay as you go fares are also capped so there is no need to buy a Travelcard in advance.

Carry water in hot weather

AS the temperature rises, TfL is reminding customers to carry water with them when travelling on London's public transport during hot weather.

This is to help ensure everyone stays hydrated and travels safely, especially on the Tube. Before removing face coverings to take a drink, passengers should be aware of others around them and replace face coverings over their nose and mouth as soon as possible.

Works at Borough station

Borough station will be closed from 10pm every day from Monday until mid-July, owing to lift works. Customers can either use London Bridge station, which is just a six-minute walk away, or take bus route 343 from stop D.
