

Last call for summer fun

THERE'S STILL TIME TO ENJOY ACTIVITIES AT THE MUSEUM

POP along to London Transport Museum this week for a final instalment of exciting interactive challenges, as part of The Great Summer of Engineering.

Children can enjoy dropping into the museum's four different activity stations to solve problems, make decisions and experiment with the engineering challenges of the future.

Families can also get involved in special pop-up weekend activities this Saturday and Sunday, delivered by the museum's partner talent Technology Services.

These sessions explore some of the technology currently used at Tube stations across London. Try your hand at making your nerves in a challenging buzz wire game.

Faces of the future: Budding engineers can enjoy hands-on activities

The activities can be enjoyed by all, but are particularly aimed at young people aged seven and above. There is a colourful sticker reward to collect for each session attended.

Children go free. Adult tickets are £16 online (£13.50 for concessions).

Tickets allow daytime entry to all museum galleries and temporary exhibitions for a full year.

Win a fun Tube-themed cushion and pencil case

ENTER MetroTravel's free prize draw for a chance to win a novelty roundel cushion and a train-shaped pencil case, from High Resolution Design.

Ideal for transport lovers of any age, the cuddly cushion offers a new take on the world-famous London Underground logo, while the Tube train pencil case is perfect for staying organised in style, at school or work.

For your chance to win one of three cushion and pencil case sets (pictured) worth £25.99, just answer the following simple question:

The iconic London Underground roundel logo is red, white and blue. What colour is the roundel used for London Buses?

A: Orange and pink

B: Red and white

C: Yellow and purple

To enter, send your answer, your name and your address, with the subject 'Tube cushion' to metrocompetitions@tfl.gov.uk by 11.59pm tonight.

Winners will be chosen at random. For terms and conditions, see tfl.gov.uk/terms

The cushion and pencil case can be purchased from a range of London and Tube-themed gifts at highresolutiondesign.co.uk
