Keep travelling safely

CUSTOMERS are reminded that TfL continues to operate a safe, clean and reliable service, with regular cleaning regimes across the network.

TfL is encouraging staff and customers to take appropriate action to keep themselves safe – including using hand sanitiser and wearing a face covering if this helps them travel with confidence.

To help spread demand, passengers are encouraged to make journeys at quieter times. For Tube and rail, these are between 8.45am and 4.30pm and after 6.45pm in the week, and before midday and after 6.45pm at weekends.

The quieter times for buses are between 8.30am and 3pm and after 5.30pm in the week, and before 11.30am and after 5.30pm at weekends.

Customers are also advised to carry water with them when travelling during hot weather, to help ensure everyone stays hydrated and travels safely, especially on the Tube.

If you're feeling unwell, it is advised that you contact a staff member at the next station or speak to the bus driver. Make sure to look out for other passengers and help people off the train or bus if they are feeling unwell.

Night Tube strikes suspended

THE planned strike action on Friday and Saturday nights on the Central, Jubilee, Northern and Victoria lines has been suspended. Normal Night Tube services will run on these lines from this evening.

Fabulous festival fun

THIS weekend, you can get holiday happy with these fantastic festivals in the capital.

KALEIDOSCOPE FESTIVAL

Now in its third year, Kaleidoscope at Alexandra Park and Palace is packing a world of fun into one day tomorrow in its Grade II-listed grounds, offering sets by the likes of Happy Mondays, ska legend David Rodigan, Charlotte Church, Craig Charles, Sindhu Vee and Ed Byrne.

There are multiple stages, family events and even a Victorian basements hideaway that needs to be seen to be believed.

To book tickets and for more information, visit www.kaleidoscope-festival.com

ISLANDER FESTIVAL

The free Islander Festival takes over Hopewell Square, London City Island tomorrow. The fun runs from 11am to 7.30pm with loads of live performances, al fresco fitness classes, face painting, craft sessions, cocktail-making and an all-day barbecue.

The local community remains at the heart of this festival, with artists and independent businesses from the area leading the line-up. If you'd like to take part in one of the workshops that start at 9am, simply register for your free ticket at Eventbrite.

QUEEN ELIZABETH OLYMPIC PARK

On Sunday, the Celebrating 10 Years' free festival opens at Hopkins' Field, Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park in Stratford.

This event kicks off two weeks of fun inspired by the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games. Events include mass karaoke, movies, street theatre, face painting, roller skating and fun fair rides.

The festival will be open from 11am to 9pm daily, and for more information, visit queenelizabetholympicpark.co.uk

FESTIVAL OF FOOTBALL

Football fever is once again gripping the capital, with the UEFA European Women's Championship, and Londoners can get into the party mood at the UEFA Women's Euros Fan Zone in Trafalgar Square, with free entertainment every day from 11am until 6pm.

Home support will continue going strong, with England's Lionesses already booking their space in the semi-finals with a 2-1 extra-time victory over Spain on Wednesday.

The fan zone runs from tomorrow until Sunday July 31, and includes a pop-up football pitch and coaching sessions, live panel discussions, interviews, music, food and drink.

There will also be a screening of Bend It Like Beckham to celebrate 20 years since the film's release and, of course, the Women's Euro 2022 final will be screened live on July 31.
